

First aid: Renaming containers

Solution:

The container name is always the same as the name of the working directory of the content, so to change the container name you only have to change the folder name of the working directory and repack the container once.

But remember to delete your old container (with the old name)!